SIMPLICITY IS THE PRINCIPLE OF ART.

MONDO PROD

At Mondo Prod, artists are at the heart of everything.
The soul of the project.

We deeply believe that artists are the builders of emotions, the weavers of human connections, the awakeners of consciousness, and the bearers of beauty. This is why we make it a point of honor to promote their work, their journey, and their authenticity.

Each artist we support has touched us with more than just their talent: their ability to create magic, to thrill an audience, and to transform a moment into an unforgettable memory. Whether they are musicians, actors, circus artists, dancers, or street performers, they all share the same passion: that of sincere expression, encounter, and sharing.

We are proud to represent them, not as mere service providers, but as essential creators, capable of restoring meaning, joy, and wonder through their works. Behind each performance lie hours of passion, commitment, and hard work. And it is this reality that we want to highlight.

CHO KAIRIN

Cho Kairin, born in Hebei Province, China, comes from a long line of acrobats. Trained from a young age, he quickly graced the international stage and won numerous prestigious awards, including the Daidogei World Championship in Japan in 2017.

With this experience, he founded the Cho Kairin company, which draws its inspiration from traditional Chinese street art, revisited with modernity and creativity. Each show is a true living fresco where refined illusionism, chair acrobatics, dizzying rolla bolla, balancing, humor, and many other surprises intermingle, all served by careful staging and communicative energy.

Composed of artists, each more talented than the last, each with their own specialty and unique style, the company offers performances that are spectacular, poetic, and accessible to all. Together, they create a warm connection with the audience and transform each performance into an unforgettable moment of sharing, capable of astonishing children and adults alike.

AFUMA

The Afuma company offers a unique show where tradition, dance, and acrobatics meet several meters above the ground. Perched on impressive 3.50-meter stilts, the artists display incredible energy and perform spectacular tricks that defy balance and gravity. Carried by traditional Togolese rhythms and dances, they transform each performance into a true celebration of living art.

Beyond performance, Afuma spreads his art throughout the world while sharing his knowledge in Togo, thanks to the stilt-walking school they founded. This initiative allows children to discover the creative power of their culture and open up new perspectives through artistic practice. A vibrant, intense, and generous moment, which captivates young and old alike and remains etched in their memories for a long time.

MENCHO SOSA

Mencho Sosa, an Argentine artist trained at the Municipal School of Dramatic Art in Buenos Aires, offers a highly energetic and delirious show, where his passion for football becomes a true artistic performance. On stage, each ball becomes an instrument of virtuosity and comedy, which he juggles with impressive precision. His creativity transforms simple actions into spectacular and hilarious moments, where sport, humor, and theater combine to captivate audiences of all ages.

Mencho Sosa plays with the ball like an actor plays with his lines: each trick, each control becomes an interaction with the audience, generating laughter, surprise, and admiration. His show is rhythmic, unpredictable, and constantly renewed, offering an immersive experience where the art of juggling meets the passion for football and the Argentine comic spirit. With Mencho Sosa, the audience is transported to a universe where the ball is never just an object, but a stage partner who creates a unique and unforgettable moment.

QUETZALCÓATL MEXICO SHOW

A sensory journey through myth, rhythm, and fire. In the darkness of the beginnings, three figures emerge from the jungle to perform an ancestral ritual. Using instruments from Aztec culture, theater, percussion, and dance blend into a powerful and symbolic narrative. The viewer is transported to a suspended time, where fire is no longer just an element, but a healing, a rebirth, and a meditation.

“In the silence of the Earth’s heartbeat, the rhythm of life is set. In the beginning, there was only darkness, until man discovered fire. Born in Puebla, Mexico, in 2000 as an Afro-Cuban percussion ensemble, Quetzalcoatl evolved in 2001 into a fusion of music, theater, dance, and fire.

Since 2002, the group has embodied the union of rhythm, earth and Aztec spirituality, offering ritual performances full of emotion and depth.

Quetzalcoatl radiates energy and connects the human senses, taking the audience beyond time.”

TSUBASA WATANABE

Tsubasa Watanabe is a Japanese artist who offers extraordinary shows, where diabolo, dance, poetry, storytelling, and visual effects come together in fascinating harmony. On stage, each movement of his body and each throw of the diabolo become a language, a visual metaphor that tells a story. His performances combine technical virtuosity with poetic sensitivity, inviting the audience to feel and imagine beyond the simple spectacle. The dance dialogues with the projected images, the gestures intertwine with the poetic texts, and the narration transports each person into a universe that is both magical and deeply human. Tsubasa Watanabe thus creates a multidimensional art, captivating young and old alike, where each performance is a unique journey blending emotion, wonder, and creativity.

BOYS BAND BAROQUE

“Three instruments roughly from the period, three pieces on sheet music, three polyphonic songs, three men with the looks of a boy band performing classical music. In short, a combination of chords and hearts with humor and a shift, in a large generation gap located between 1700 and 2000, from Johann Pachelbel to Philip of “2 BE 3”, in acrobatic musical interpretations, to form the Boys Band Baroque! Early music lovers, don’t forget your earplugs!”

The zany Franco-Swiss trio Boys Band Baroque offers an original and sparkling show, combining humor, music, theater, and music history. On stage, each member of the trio deploys their creativity and energy to transform musical anecdotes into hilarious and captivating moments, where virtuosity meets comedy. Between sketches, improvisations, and musical performances, the audience is drawn into a world that is at once playful, educational, and spectacular, where young and old alike discover music in a different way. This trio transforms the stage into a true artistic playground, offering a dynamic, surprising, and unforgettable show for the whole family.

IGNIFERI

Igniferi is a fire and visual theatre show combining dance, physical theatre and fire manipulation. A true sensory journey, it makes fire the protagonist of a wordless story, painted by the flames themselves.

Original costumes and sets create a surreal atmosphere, transporting the viewer to an ancient, timeless world. From the delicate flicker of a nascent flame to the roar of a volcanic explosion, every moment is designed to awaken the senses and fuel the imagination.

At the heart of this fiery ritual is Igniferi, a charismatic and mysterious figure. She maintains an intimate dialogue with the flames, dancing and interacting with them in an authentic and primal way, the result of extensive research into acting and stage presence.

INTENSE SENSATIONS AND ABSTRACT VISIONS, FROM DELICATE EMOTION TO VOLCANIC EXPLOSION!

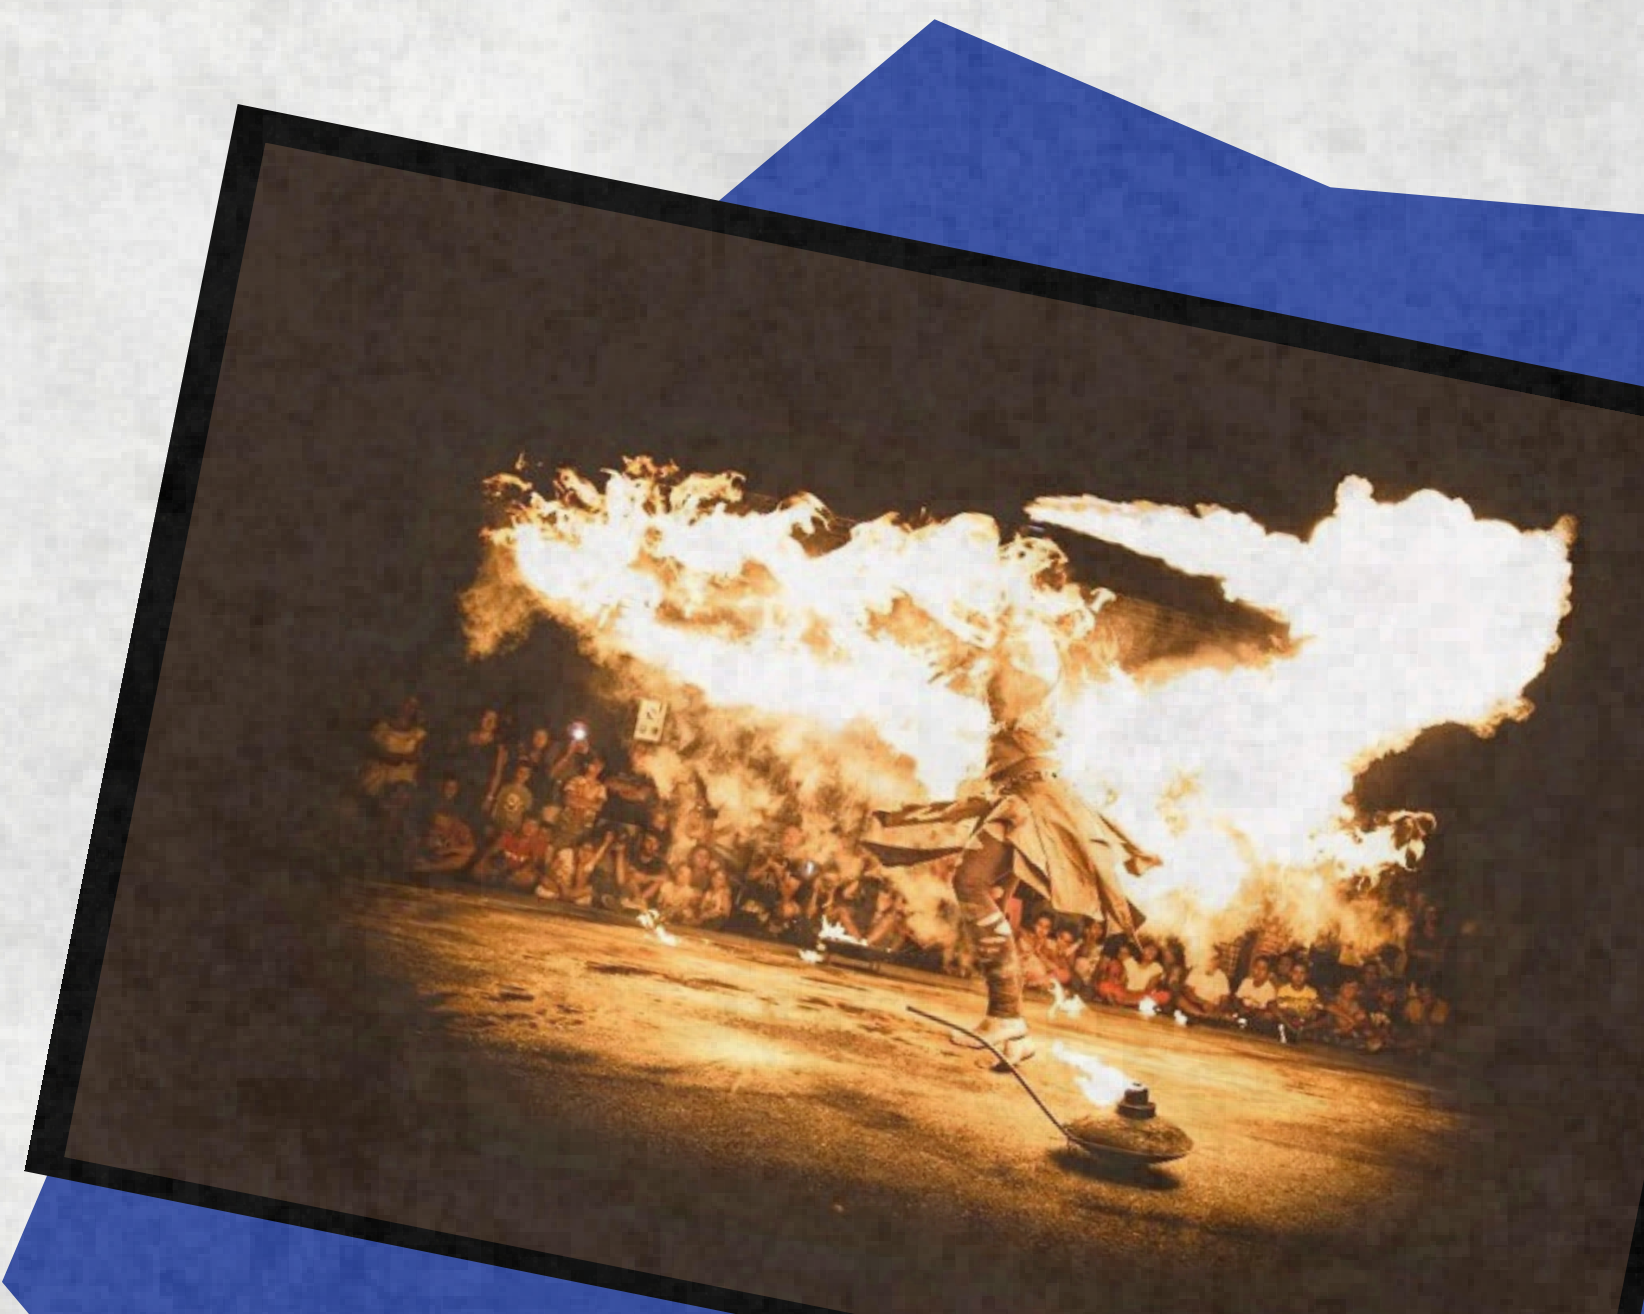

“Only at certain times of the year did women gather around the fire, whispering the mysterious tales of Igniferi, a warrior woman who possessed knowledge of the primordial secret of Fire...”

PAKIPAYA

Circus, theater, and humanity in suspension. Born in 2008 from the encounter between Noemí Díaz and Adrià Mascarell, the PakiPaya Company is the fruit of a love story that has become a way of life. Together, they are founders, creators, directors, producers, and performers. Together, they have chosen to merge their passions for circus, theater, and humor, to the point of inventing a unique artistic language, where circus technique becomes the driving force of the dramaturgy.

Explorers of laughter, seekers of emotions, they weave a direct and vibrant connection with the audience, always in search of a shared look, a vibration, a breath. Their theater is a profoundly humanist game, a mirror of our lives, a space of imagination where everyone can recognize themselves, be moved or dream. Their specialty: multidisciplinary shows, with a particular emphasis on aerial framework, this discipline which links the poetry of movement to the weightlessness of feelings. They defend an art accessible to all, young and old, in which each spectator finds their own interpretation, their own emotion.

Each creation is a quest for meaning and humanity, nourished by human relationships and artistic challenges. For PakiPaya, art is alive, moving, a field of experimentation and sharing, always evolving.

Born in Rome in 1982, this multidisciplinary artist has been exploring the multiple languages of live performance for nearly twenty years. Passionate about contemporary clowning, he nourishes his practice through the study of circus, dance, theater, and magic. From 2006 to 2010, he formed the duo “Smile Carucci” with Jacopo Candeloro, then founded in 2014, with Antonio Coluccio, La Compagnie Bellavita.

Since 2015, he has been a regular collaborator of Circo El Grito, participating in several notable creations: The King of Swing, Serendipity, Bagatelle et Frasierie, Conférence spectacular, Johan Sebastian Circus, Café Bach, Malamat.

Present in festivals and cabarets around the world, he shares with the public a sensitive and burlesque universe, carried by the love of laughter. With his character, Gustavo La Vita is a melancholic clown, despite this the sweetness and curiosity of the child remain in him like a flickering candle that sometimes shines intensely.

The slight urge to play with the seriousness of life often struggles with his cynical and disillusioned side, but Gustavo is a clown and as such must entertain with laughter, skill numbers and empathetic moments.

Gustavo La Vita succeeds with poetry, simplicity and irony in representing the fragile balances of the human soul.

JULOT

COUSINS

A mast erected on a square of colors, hula hoops suspended in the air... and here comes Julot, a supple, mischievous and tender character, who enters the scene. He turns, dances, climbs, undulates the hoops to the rhythm of his body, playing with gravity as with a dance partner. Little by little, he rises, up to nine meters high, in an ascent that is both dizzying and light, where each movement seems to defy the ground and caress the sky.

At the crossroads of traditional circus and contemporary performance, Hula Hoopla is a small aerial form full of grace and fantasy. This show reinvents each place where it is installed, transforming a square, a park or a street into a stage of colorful poetry. Between laughter, wonder and thrills, it offers the audience a delicious taste of vertigo. Look up... between two buildings or above the trees, the circus rises, free and joyful, to better make you dream.

KOLEKTIV

LAPSO CIRK

David and Tomas defy the laws of gravity... and their own limitations. Simple wooden planks transform into unstable structures, presenting them with new challenges every moment. Whether it's strength, focus, courage, or confidence, it all depends on the "game" they're playing at that precise moment.

Risk is an integral part of their work: each puts the other in danger, while perfectly controlling their body and the way they fall. One cannot help but hold one's breath watching their exploits. The audience is captivated by the tension of the games, but also seduced by the aesthetic images that these balances create and maintain.

Every action generates a reaction: planks, beams, and wooden structures are created and then destroyed before our eyes. Fear is overcome despite the danger, and every balance remains, by definition, unstable. OVVIO then becomes a true aesthetic exercise in the laws of gravity, where every movement generates the improbable, like a roll of the dice. OVVIO... and there you have it.

BARBARA PROBST

With a nod to the world of advertising, “Bath-Flop” immerses the audience, quite literally, in the highly surprising presentation of a luxury bathtub.

A clownesque experience accompanied by a performance that unfolds into a critique of commercialism and hyperconsumerism, featuring a meticulous saleswoman faced with a rather rebellious bathtub...

Watch out for slips and slides, always carefully controlled!

JOAN CATALÀ

Pelat is an artistic proposal that erases all boundaries between dance, circus, theater and performance, and between audience and spectacle. Inspired by traditional Catalan festivals around the greasy pole, Joan Català creates a fascinating gestural poetry from simple objects: a wooden pole, a bucket, a few belts and ropes.

Throughout the show, he engages in an unusual pas de deux with the pole, sizing it up, manipulating it, and taming it with unsettling grace. Each movement seems to tell a story: does he want to reach the top of the pole or surrender to the present moment? In this quest, the spectators' complicity becomes essential, transforming each interaction into a shared game where everyone becomes an actor and witness to the performance. Between humor, tension, and visual poetry, Pelat offers a sensitive and surprising journey to the heart of a living art, where balance and human relationships are at the center of every gesture.

MR
VITA

Mr Vita's TNT Show is an interactive street show that has toured the world, combining comedy, acrobatics and juggling in a completely crazy world.

Mr. Vita seems to have stepped straight out of a cartoon and invites the audience into his zany world, where each act surprises and amuses young and old alike. His wacky inventions, like the famous "bomba," and his absurd humor make him a unique artist, capable of captivating without a word thanks to his expressive body and comical sounds, eliminating all language barriers.

The TNT Show is a concentration of energy and creativity, combining acrobatics, clowning and physical comedy, right up to the explosive finale: the Rock n' Roll stunt, with motorcycle helmet, striptease and, of course, LA BOMBA.

For a spectacular, funny and unforgettable moment, Mr Vita's TNT Show is the perfect choice to transform your city into a truly interactive and explosive street theater.

MARIANGELA MARTINO

A piano on display and an impeccable music teacher with a single goal: to invite the audience to step forward and play. Everything seems set for a peaceful, interactive lesson, until a volunteer accepts the invitation and takes a seat at the keyboard... and that's when everything hilariously goes off the rails.

Throwing all teaching discipline out the window, the little teacher transforms into an “unexpected pianist”. She takes complete control of the keyboard to show everyone how it's really done, performing acrobatics and balancing acts, while the poor volunteer is relegated to the role of assistant — or even human stool.

Yet he cannot resist her charm, and amid playful bickering and little skirmishes, an unexpected romantic spark begins to emerge.
A deeply romantic show where music is made to be seen.

SAMANTHA GUINEU

The Return Of... This show mixes clowning, slapstick and hula hoops to deliver a hilarious act embodying a fallen diva with an oversized ego.

Samantha is a charming superstar who displays a slight irritation with the public but simply cannot live without them—she almost believes she is too big for herself. With inordinate confidence and self-esteem, she is so self-absorbed that she forgets the simplest things, finding herself in impossible physical situations and accidents... which are never her fault.

This issue offers a contemporary approach to the hula hoop, exploring all the possibilities offered by this accessory in the context of slapstick and clowning, for a mixture of humor, virtuosity and lightness.

LOTTA & STINA

Lotta Paavilainen and Stina Kopra are award-winning Finnish artists specializing in Rola Bola acrobatics. Partners since 2001, they trained for three years at the Brussels School of Circus Arts, graduating in 2008, and have since become the only female duo in the world in this demanding discipline.

Their careers have taken them to some of Europe's greatest circuses, cabarets, and variety shows. In 2015, they were awarded the Finnish State Prize for Circus Arts, along with the MAD IN FINLAND collective, in recognition of their unique contribution to the arts.

Their strength lies in the fusion of acrobatics, theater, and comedy. Each act tells a story—sometimes funny, sometimes emotional—where physical humor and technical precision combine to captivate the audience. More than just balancing on the Rola-Bola, their performances are an interactive and heartfelt journey, where each movement creates memorable characters, situations, and stories.
